

Workshop on Promotion of Fisheries in Haryana

Date: 10th March, 2023

Venue: Sultan Fish Seed Farm, Village Butana, Nilokheri, Karnal

Haryana Kisan Kalyan Pradhikaran conducted a one-day Workshop on Promotion of Fisheries” at Sultan Fish Seed Farm, Village Butana, Nilokheri, Karnal on 10th March, 2023, with an objective to educate and motivate the farmers for adoption of fisheries. Sh. Bhupinder Singh, CEO, HKKP briefed about the background of the workshop and its objectives.

Dr. Anita Bhatnagar, Professor, Kurekshetra University stated that farmers in Haryana are showing greater interest in switching to fish farming. She elaborated the basics of fish farming, species of fish, market consumption, demand and supply chain, etc.

Sh, Neeraj Chaudhary, progressive farmer explained how they have been practising fisheries since 1984. He said that Sultan Fish Farm in the Nilokheri area of Karnal district is quoted as an example of the success of a private enterprise. He shared details of how fish farming can be made a profitable venture.

Smt Shakuntala, DFO, Karnal spoke about the various schemes and subsidies given by the government for the welfare of fish farmers.

Sh. Sushil Handuja, Lead Bank Manager, PNB, Karnal told about the process of taking loan, necessary documentation and procedure for a smooth and easy loan approval for fish farming.